Peter Arden KC

Call: 1983 Silk: 2006

Peter is a leading silk for insolvency and restructuring, corporate and commercial work.

Since taking silk, he has been instructed in connection with many of the major insolvencies and restructurings during this period – for example, T&N/Federal Mogul, HIH Insurance, Eurotunnel, Landsbanki, Kaupthing, MF Global, Co-Operative Bank, the Marme group, the Steinhoff group and Thomas Cook. He has a substantial and continuing involvement in Lehman, appeared for the successful appellant in Bresco v Lonsdale in the Supreme Court, was instructed in connection with the AirAsia X scheme in Malaysia, many of the recent substantial retail CVAs and restructuring plans, and the Petropavlovsk administration and schemes.

The subject-matter of the cases in which Peter has been involved has been extensive. Many are multi-jurisdictional and have given rise to novel issues of cross-border insolvency law; those arising out of the financial crisis raised complex questions about the regulation and practice of financial institutions, the restructuring of those institutions under existing and then new regimes, and the content and effect of financial instruments, derivatives and other securities; and the most recent cases involve difficult issues about the proper scope of existing and new restructuring procedures. Inevitably, most also involved the application of more general principles of corporate and corporate insolvency law, including for example those relating to capital maintenance and corporate governance.

Much of Peter's insolvency and restructuring work requires him to deal with issues which are of a commercial nature; for example, conflicts of laws, the law and practice relating to financial institutions and financial instruments, including derivatives, note and bond issues, consent exchanges, client money and assets, and the interpretation of finance leases and analogous instruments. Further, many of the cases involve complex issues of company law - for example, relating to capital maintenance and corporate governance. These areas – commercial and company law – are also ones in which Peter has a strong practice independently of his insolvency and restructuring work, and he is a member of the editorial board of Gore-Browne on Companies.

A substantial element of Peter's work relates to multi-jurisdictional or offshore matters including, for example, in relation to proceedings in the US Bankruptcy Court, the Bermuda Supreme Court, the Cayman Islands Grand Court (FSD), the Malaysian High Court, the Eastern Caribbean Supreme Court, the Bahamas Supreme Court and the Reykavik District Court.

Cases in Peter's areas of practice in which he has been instructed include the following:

Restructuring & Insolvency

- Corporate restructuring: schemes, restructuring plans and voluntary arrangements
- Administration and special administration regimes
- Company winding up: creditors and members
- Cross-border restructuring and insolvency
- Notes and securities litigation
- Contentious insolvency : e.g. adjustment of transactions; enforcement of directors' duties

Peter's expertise in this area is well known, and he has been involved in most of the major insolvencies and insolvent restructurings over the years. His instructions have included matters relating to cases such as Federal-Mogul, HIH Insurance, Eurotunnel, Lehmans, the Icelandic banks, Travelodge, MF Global, and the Co-Operative Bank, and most recently Cineworld, Superdry and Lietzenburger . Many of those matters have included an international or cross-border element.

Particular cases in which Peter has been instructed include the following:

The case settled very shortly before the appeal was due to commence in early 2022. The first instance judgment is the leading authority on retail CVAs and more generally on fairness issues arising in contested restructurings.

Regis UK Limited [2021-2022] This case overlapped with New Look and was heard by the same judge. It again involved a challenge to a retail CVA with judgment being handed down shortly after the New Look judgment. The challenge in Regis was successful and the CVA was revoked: [2021] EWHC 1294 (Ch). There was no appeal from the substantive order but a costs issue, between the successful landlords and the nominee/supervisors, was the subject of an appeal (permission for which was given by the Court of Appeal).
